NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—

In the terse language of the sea, the master of the Belgian steamer Jean Jadot today wirelessly a graphic description of the foundering of the British freighter Usworth with a loss of twelve lives.

The Jean Jadot and the Cunard-White Star liner Ascania succeeded in rescuing twenty of the crew of the stricken freighter, which has now been abandoned.

Dramatic Battle

New York, Dec. 15.—Survivors of a north Atlantic tempest in which 12 lives were lost, were headed to day for port after one of the most dramatic battles that sailor-men have waged against the sea.

The victims were swept to their death when a lifeboat from the Belgian tramp steamer Jean Jadot was Approximately 200 people enjoyed the dancing and cards provided in the Castleton hotel Friday night when the Young Democratic club staged a victory ball.

From 9 until 1 the guests enjoyed themselves, with the dancing program punctuated with some entertainment and a short address by Congressman-elect Charles R. Eckert.

The evening was entirely free of formality and apparently the guests enjoyed both the party itself and the result responsible for the party.

EARLE IS URGED TO RETAIN MAJ. ADAMS

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 15.—Governor-elect George H. Earle was urged today by the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association of the third zone to retain Maj. Lynn G. Adams as superintendent of the State police in the incoming administration.

The association, meeting in Plymouth with 32 counties represented, lauded the record of the State police and urged that the organization be kept out of politics.

Complete Plans For Membership Drive For Home

Memberships Will Enable Home Officials To Make
Needed Repairs

EFFORT TO END BY CHRISTMAS

Final arrangements were made for the membership campaign which will be conducted in the city in behalf of the Margaret L. Henry Children's Home, at a meeting of the solicitors in the Elks Lodge room last evening. There was a large number present, and their enthusiasm points to a successful termination of the drive in the period allotted.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, who has been a member of its board ever since the Home was incorporated and who has always maintained a deep interest in its maintenance, presided, and introduced Roger W. "Cap" Rowland, the general chairman of the membership effort.

Briefly, Mr. Rowland outlined the plans, stating that the campaign will be opened Monday and will continue until Christmas eve.

Needs Deferred

He stated that many necessary repairs for the home have been deferred as long as possible and that only the bare maintenance costs have been sought for the past five years. However, it was pointed out, the home cannot carry on during the coming year unless additional funds are procured. This is expected to be received through the subscription of friends of this institution, who will take memberships in the home association.

Attorney Dickey, also spoke further in the same vein, stating that the home was the property of the citizens of New Castle and that the children who have been taken in there and are being cared for, are in actual fact, the wards of the citizens of New Castle.

It is pointed out by state welfare officials as one of the outstanding institutions of its kind in the state of Pennsylvania, whose operating costs are approximately one third of that of any other home of its type.

Marcus Feuchtwanger, president of the home association, told of the number of children who have been cared for at the home, and of the fact that there have been so many applications for admission that the age limit had to be set at from 4 to 12 years. No children under four or over twelve are admitted to the home, but they are permitted to stay there until they are able to go out and face the world for themselves.

"Cap" Rowland, general chairman of the membership effort asks that the citizens of New Castle cooperate with the workers who will visit them during the coming ten days, and assist them in making the effort a successful one.

THREE ENGINEERS TO ACT IN MATTER

Officials of the city of New Castle and Pennsylvania Power company met with the Public Service commission at Harrisburg Friday and decided upon a method of procedure relative to the survey of property of the company in this city and it is believed that the survey will commence within a few days, according to an announcement made here today.

Chairman Jay Goodnough presided over the conference, at the expiration of which he handed down an order as follows:
"In the matter of complaints of the city of New Castle versus the Pennsylvania Power company at complaint docket 10449 and 10450, seeking a program for proceeding in the above complaints, it was agreed that three engineers, one representing the complainants, one representing the Pennsylvania Power company, and one representing the Public Service commission, be appointed to conduct the survey."

Cotton Limitation Plan Is Approved

(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—The south's dirt farmers, whose chief money crop for nearly a century has been cotton—at once a blessing and a curse—have found that crop production control is the magic solution of their principal problem—a widely fluctuating market.

In one of the most amazing referenda on record some two and a half million men whose livelihood is dependent upon the soil went to the polls yesterday and voted to continue the revolutionary, experimental Bankhead Act.

They polled up a stupendous ten to one majority in favor of letting the federal government, in one of the most daring phases of its New Deal, tell them just how much cotton they can grow each year.

Voluntarily, and by majorities in nearly every instance so large as to make their approval almost unanimous, farmers in the sixteen cotton-growing states limited their next season's crop to a probable maximum of 12,000,000 bales.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 15.—While church bells tolled solemnly and the entire city paused in five minutes of silent prayer for its fifty or more fire victims, a 29th body was recovered today from the huge rubble heap which was once the Kerns hotel.

The charred body was identified by means of a blackened wrist-watch as that of Charles O. Gunn of Bay City. It was believed that approximately 30 more bodies lie in the tangled ruins, left by flames which swept the old four-story hotel Tuesday morning.

Execute Two For Slaying Of Policeman

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Walter Dittman, 28, and Armando Boulton, 39, were executed in the electric chair at Cook county jail shortly after midnight today for the murder of an Oak Park policeman.

Resigned and calm with his new-found religious fervor, Boulton went to his death first in the execution chamber. Physicians pronounced him dead at 12:06 a. m.

Dittman trembled with nervousness and fear as he was strapped in the electric chair to die at 12:21 a. m.

The two bandits died blaming each other for the murder of Policeman Earl Jensen last September 1.

Body Of Missing Woman Is Found

East Side Woman's Body Is Discovered In Big Run
Creek

SEARCHERS WERE OUT ALL NIGHT

Despondent from ill health with which she had suffered for a number of years, Mrs. Mary E. Jenkins, 52, of 537 East Washington street ended her life sometime Friday night by drowning. Her body was found at seven o'clock this morning in the Big Run near where the B. R. & P. railroad tracks cross the Butler road, by Harry Johnston who resides in that section of Shenango township.

As he walked along the Butler road Mr. Johnston noticed a coat on the fence running along the west side of the road. Pinned to the coat was a note which said "body will be found in the creek, call 2376." He investigated and a short distance away found the body of the unfortunate woman. He immediately called the coroner and state and county officers.

Missing Last Night

Mrs. Jenkins had been visiting at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Greer of Adams street for the past few days. About six o'clock she went out, ostensibly to pay a call on some friends. When she did not return later in the evening the family became alarmed and began a search for her.

The search went on all night with no success until early today with the discovery of the body by Mr. Johnston. Her family was notified immediately.

Several years ago Mrs. Jenkins suffered a stroke and since then had been ill and despondent. She was a member of the Epworth M. E. church for many years and had a wide circle of friends in New Castle.

Also surviving her are her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Greer of (Continued On Page Two)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 15.—Monday is Aviation Day! Thirty-one years ago Monday the Wrights made their famous flight at Kitty Hawk.

It was a box kite put together with barrel staves and putty. He sat on a stool out in front of the thing, hoping that it wouldn't get excited and run over him. He didn't get very high, but he started something that will change many a map in this world.

Aviation is sort of like the old 45 pistols, which made little men as dangerous as big men: It's a sort of equalizer. You could give little Switzerland enough airplanes and she would worry the old Ned out of the big ones.

There is no end to how many we ought to have, but about fifty thousand, and take the profits out of war, and you won't have any war.

FEAR GRACE BUDD NOT ONLY VICTIM

"Suicide Guard" Is Placed

By GEORGE H. KENNEDY

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Metallic echoes of picks and shovels today shattered the sylvan silence of Wisteria cottage—Westchester county's "house of horrors"—as detectives ripped up the basement of the ramshackle, deserted house on the theory that other victims may have met the gruesome fate of 10-year-old Grace Budd, childish prey to the blood lust of a "vampire slayer."

Meanwhile, Albert Fish, stoop-shouldered little house painter whose revolting confession solved the six-year-old mystery of the child's disappearance, was assigned a "suicide guard" of police in the Tombs pending indictment and trial in Westchester county.

Probe Basement

Orders to rip up the basement of the dilapidated old house were given by Medical Examiner Amos O. Squire who yesterday provided the key that may unlock hidden solution to other disappearances in the metropolitan area by recovering a 10-inch bone, resembling that of an adult, under a board in the gloomy basement.

"A man who would commit a murder such as Fish has admitted," Dr. Squire warned, "might be apt to commit other murders."

It seems strange that when I casually lifted a board in the basement I found a bone."

His gruesome find, he said, appeared to be the bone of an adult, although he pointed out that it may be that of an animal. With regard to the latter theory, however, Dr. Squire pointed out that it was extremely unlikely anyone would take the trouble to secret an animal's bone under the basement flooring.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15.—An unnamed Chinese Christian pastor was praised today by officials of the China inland mission who said he had saved the life of three-month-old Helen Priscilla Stam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stam, American missionaries slain this week by Chinese communist troops.

Risking his own life, the Chinese pastor rushed through the battle between communists and Chinese government troops, in which the American pair were slain, and obtained the infant from the reds, fragmentary reports revealed.

The child later was recovered by the Rev. George Birch, a Canadian missionary, who took her to Wuhu, where she remains under hospital care.

Huge Change Being Made In Hill Route For Rural Avenue

For the past 15 years, residents of the "orth Hill" have advocated the improvement of Rural avenue. It was suggested that the entrance to the street from Neshannock avenue be widened and that the grade be reduced but not even the most ardent advocates of the improvement had any idea it could be as complete a job as is now under way.

Instead of starting from Neshannock avenue extension about 100 yards from the city line the new Rural avenue will start right at the city line. From there it is cut along the side of the hill and does not join the old road until it reaches a point well up the grade. The result of the and the new roadway will be to reduce the grade of Rural avenue drastically and provide a safe entrance into it from Neshannock avenue.

As they were digging around what was once the foundation for a house which stood on the hillside years ago one of the workmen found an old two-cent piece which had been buried in the ground several feet. The date is not discernible but the workman expects to get the coin cleaned of the dirt and corrosion to see what he has found.

When midnight takes his tarry brush and daubs the canvas of the clouds, with leaden paint and gloomy tints and drapes the world in somber shrouds, he curtains off the azure sky and hides the portals of the sun, winds up the clock of universe, his day is through his work is done. And as I walk at midnight's hour, and see the drapery of clouds and skies I must confess the artist did a painting job of mammoth size. No sun, no stars, no guiding light, just midnight, somber, leaden gray, a time to hie for home and bed, the weather's thirty one today.

EUROPEAN NATIONS AGAIN DEFAULT DEBT

Finland Only Nation To Pay

Great Nations Default Outright In Meeting Debt To U. S.

DEFAULTS NOW TOTAL OVER HALF BILLION

By KINSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Europe's pay-day to the United States today found this government short more than a half a billion dollars of the amounts due it from the debtor nations. It was a lonely day for Uncle Sam at the paying-teller's window out of all Europe, only one little republic figuratively trudged up to the window to deposit any money. That was Finland, which continues to pay full and in cash the money borrowed from this government at the close of the World War to help it establish itself as an independent nation.

Europe Defaults
The great creditor nations of Europe, Great Britain, France and Italy, defaulted outright again, along with Poland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Lithuania.

Great Britain and Italy defaulted outright for the second time. France and most of the others for the fifth time.

These defaults brought the total amount on which Europe is in arrears to the American government to approximately $630,000,000. The general trend of the notes announcing default was that the respective governments regretted economic or other conditions which prompted them to default originally had not changed.

None of them took advantage of secretary of state Hull's offer made last June, to consider payments in kind, or in goods, or of under secretary of state Phillips' statement that this government would be prepared to listen to any new proposals the debtors might have to make concerning a new settlement.

Three of the debtors, Rumania, Latvia and Estonia were yet to be heard from. However, it was considered a foregone conclusion they too would serve notice of default.

from 34,000,000 acres. Last year, the first time in the nation's history that crops have been arbitrarily limited, the Bankhead Act placed the limit of 10,000,000 acres. A nature that is blind to man's efforts, however, wrote its own solution with drought and adverse weather conditions that brought a crop of only 6,700,000 bales on the 28,000,000 acres that were planted under the control measure.

The record vote in favor of continuing crop control cleared the air of bitter controversy that has raged in the south over the effectiveness of the act, controversy that has provided a number of southern politicians with a talking point for their championship of the "common people" in campaigns for governor and senator.

President Roosevelt, while at Warm Springs recently, expressed his belief that continuance of crop control was the wisest course for the farmer and promised to support legislation that would exempt the farmer who grows an average of less than two bales.

point of service it will render. It is well worth a ride out Neshannock avenue to see what is being done.

Cascade Street Work.
Another job which has long been asked for and is now well under way is Cascade street. Here again the RWD engineers have gone far beyond what the layman thought was necessary and the result seems to promise an airline highway from East Washington street to Croton avenue.

In some cases the roadway is being cut down three feet, in others heavy fill, are being made and the street is being widened to provide a 24-foot carway with sidewalks on each side.

Stone is already being placed on the East Washington street end while on the Croton end a number of trees have been cut down to make way for the improved street. This project is one that merits the commendation of the citizens for it is a worthwhile project and is being done in a way that attracts the attention of engineers. Its a real worthwhile piece of work.

Cunningham Park.
In Cunningham park the work of leveling the athletic field is about completed. When it is all done there will be an athletic field 1800 feet long and 350 feet wide, large enough to accommodate several baseball games at one time.

With the athletic field about completed the engineers are turning to road work. One fill 38 feet deep has to be made to connect one highway that is broken by a gap at the present time. All of the highways will be gravelled and calcium chloride put on them, the same as Cascade boulevard.

The Locust street sewer project is within a few days of completion as is the Taylor street sewer project. Other projects are in the process of presentation and will take up the labor released by the completion of the projects mentioned.

It is estimated that 31 bodies remain in the heap of ashes and brick or in Grand river, where many persons jumped when safe escape from the blazing building was impossible.

One body was identified yesterday as Mrs. Elsie Robbins, 39, mother of the State capital. She is the second woman known to have perished.

Two others are in hospitals, seriously burned and injured. Fire officials said they hoped to complete sifting of the ruins by Monday night.

Contend That West Virginia Young Man 29 Cannot Legally Take Seat As Senator

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Rush D. Holt, elected to the senate from West Virginia at the age of 29, may run into a storm of Republican opposition when he attempts to take his seat.

Republican leaders were conferring today on the appeal of Walter S. Hallanan, Republican national committeeman from West Virginia, to make a fight against his seating on the ground that he is under the prescribed constitutional age.

Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican leader, who received Hallanan's appeal, may place the question before a conference of all senate Republicans just before congress opens.

Colonel Drexel Taken By Death

One Of Most Distinguished Of Philadelphians Dies, Took Sick On Boat

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—In Philadelphia's highest financial and social circles today, sadness permeated the atmosphere as a consequence of the death of one of the city's most distinguished sons, Col. Anthony J. Drexel.

Col. Drexel was a vibrant and an intimate friend of European potentates and aristocrats, Colonel Drexel died in a New York hotel yesterday, 10 days after he had been taken off the Berengaria in a critical condition. He was 70.

His son, Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., and other members of his family were at his bedside. Doctors ascribed his death to uremia, but friends declared that grief over the death last October of his favored granddaughter, Mrs. Henry S. Cram, hastened his end.

A grandson of the founder of Drexel & Company, influential Philadelphia banking house allied with the John P. Morgan interests, Colonel Drexel left his native Philadelphia 25 years ago to take up residence abroad, where he became famous for his glittering and elaborate social affairs. For the last dozen years he had maintained a home in Paris.

KUS KUS KA CHAPTER HAS SPLENDID MEETING

Fine winter weather engendered a good attendance at the meeting of Kus Kus Ka chapter, Daughters American Colonists, held Friday in Beaver Falls, with New Castle being represented by several members.

The usual ritual was conducted by the regent, Mrs. Morford Throckmorton, and during the business session, pending and future projects were discussed and committees appointed for their completion.

Following an excellent luncheon, the members thoroughly enjoyed two admirable recitations given by Mrs. Elizabeth McGarvey, of Rochester, Pa., and a resume of the play "Valley Forge" by Mrs. Curtis C. Noss, also of Rochester, who is corresponding secretary of the chapter.

Preceding adjournment, there was a delightful social period.

The next meeting will be held in New Castle, on the second Friday, in February.

HOLIDAY PARTY FOR LUTHERAN CLASS

A glittering Christmas tree with twinkling lights formed the background for suggestive holiday decorations Friday evening in the home of Mrs. William Mulcahy, Leisure avenue, when she entertained the members of the Victory Bible class of St. John's Lutheran church, with Miss Stella A. Diefenderfer as associate hostess.

Mrs. J. Rawle was in charge of the Christmas program which entertained the 30 members, after which a brief business meeting was held, with an election of officers. Miss Mary A. Good was named president; Mrs. G. R. Weber, vice; Mrs. S. J. Kleckner, secretary; Mrs. Charles Rick, financial secretary and Miss Stella Diefenderfer, treasurer.

There was an exchange of gifts among the members, after which a delicious menu of refreshments was served, with a color scheme of red and green carried out. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Harry Davis, Master Bob Mulcahy and Miss Elaine Keefer of Sharon.

Special guests were Mrs. Witherspoon and Mrs. A. S. Fox.

The January 5 meeting will be January 5 at the home of Mrs. G. R. Weber, West Wallace avenue, with Mrs. William Dukes as associate.

Going to Florida.

Count and Countess Maurice di Bosdari of New York City, who have been visiting at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. C. H. MARY BALPH CLASS HAS ANNUAL DINNER

Glistering snow laden Christmas trees, in miniature, combined with tall red tapers in green holders, and crepe paper streamers in the prevailing tones, were attractive decorations for the annual Christmas dinner of the Mary Balph class, Friday evening, in Highland U. P. church.

Covers were arranged for 40 guests who thoroughly enjoyed an excellent chicken dinner served by the committee in charge; Miss Jane Aiken, Mrs. O. V. Wilson, Mrs. D. S. Balph, Mrs. Harry Hazen, Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. Perry Best.

A business session, with Miss Jane Aiken, the president, presiding, followed, after which Mrs. J. S. Martin delighted her hearers with a reading "Christmas Day in the Evening". The social period was informal.

ANNE HITCHEN HAS GIRLS FOR PARTY

As a holiday thought, Miss Anne Hitchen, Lutton street, entertained the girls of her Sunday school class of the St. Andrew's Episcopal church, in her home Friday evening.

Anagrams and other games interested the girls in the early part of the evening, with prizes awarded Elizabeth Johns, Jean Riley, Florence Hitchen, Adelaide Cartwright and Maxine James.

When the games were over Miss Hitchen invited the girls to the dining room where a glowing table was laid, centered with a glittering Christmas tree, while red tapers burned at each side. Confection baskets and a Santa Claus marked each place. Mrs. William Wignall assisted the hostess in serving.

An exchange of gifts among the girls brought the evening to an interesting close.

FIRST YULETIDE PARTY FOR MEMBERS

The first Yuletide party of the Bennett Bible class of the First Christian church, held Friday evening in the appropriately decorated parlor of the church, was a most decided success, with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eakin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth White as guests.

Mrs. Mary Wagner conducted a business meeting when it was planned to get the other classes of the church to co-operate in sending a barrel of canned goods to the Cleveland Children's Home for Christmas.

A period of interesting games followed, with Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waite and Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds as the award winners.

After the refreshments were served, Mrs. Paul Gilmore sat down to the piano and as she played "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" in came Old Nick himself, who later turned out to be James Cooper, and on his back he had a pack, gifts for every one.

With the singing of familiar Christmas carols the members closed the first Christmas party.

J. O. S. Club Guests

Miss Dorothy Kenney entertained the J. O. S. club members in her home on Croton avenue, Friday evening, at a party in observance of the Christmas season. Gifts were exchanged, and a delicious chicken dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock.

Beautiful Yuletide decorations were used in the appointments of the table. Mrs. E. C. Miss Blanche Lorenz shared as a special guest. Mrs. Kenney and Kathryn McCreary assisted in serving.

The balance of the evening was devoted to a contest in 500, Mrs. Harold Aiken and Mrs. Ralph Young being winners of the trophies. The hostess gift was captured by Mrs. Harry Hildebrand.

Kensington Dinner

N. H. B. Kensington members will enjoy a one o'clock luncheon next Wednesday in a tearoom downtown. The committee completing arrangements consists of Mrs. H. T. Cooper, Mrs. Bert McKibben, Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mrs. Elmer Brown, and Mrs. Louis Garrett.

Tigers Auxiliary

Monday evening will be a gala night for members of the Tigers Club Auxiliary. Starting at 8:00 o'clock, in the clubrooms of the Tigers club, South Mill street, the club will enjoy its annual Christmas party. DINNER PARTY FOR O. N. T. MEMBERS

Perfect in every appointment was the dinner party last evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Reiber of the Mt. Jackson road, when they entertained as guests, members of the O. N. T. club and husbands, who shared as special participants.

At the appointed hour the hostess served a chicken dinner at a table elaborately decorated. Miss Emma Gibson, Mrs. W. O. Taylor and Agnes Davidson assisted. Places were marked for eighteen.

Following a program of games and amusing contests under the direction of Mrs. Henry Ehle and Mrs. W. S. Caskey, was carried out which caused a riot of laughter. During the evening gifts were exchanged among the members, and also a handkerchief shower was tendered Mrs. W. O. Taylor, her birthday anniversary being an event of the month. This concluded their annual Christmas party.

The next meeting on December 16 at the home of Mrs. James McCord on the Mt. Jackson road, will be in the form of a quilting.

McCLURE BIBLE CLASS DINES AND ELECTS

Friday evening the members of the McClure Bible class of the First Presbyterian church assembled for the annual Christmas dinner and election of officers, with places arranged for 65. Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser's class served a delicious menu after the invocation had been asked by George Ramsey.

Dyke Blair, Jr., entertained the group with his mystifying sleight of hand tricks, after which the business meeting was called and officers were named for the coming year: G. Wilfred Thomas, president; William Margat, vice president; Eleanor Foster, secretary, and Merle Thorn, treasurer. At the close of the election speeches were in order by both the retiring and the incoming officers, also an interesting talk by George Ramsey.

The committee in charge was Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. William Gallaher and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Melvin.

Mother's Circle

The December meeting of the Mother's Circle of the First Methodist church took place Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. B. Bartlett, Moody avenue, with Mrs. J. T. Campbell in charge of the opening.

An exchange of gifts was made after which Mrs. W. O. Mayberry presented a program, with Dorothy Spangler giving a group of readings and Mrs. William Melvin giving a reading "The Christmas Formula."

Mrs. M. Shoaf, Miss Mary Alice White and Mrs. Frank McArthur of Youngstown, O., were special guests.

Refreshments were served with Christmas appointments, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mrs. J. W. Louer, Mrs. H. C. Warner and Mrs. David Taylor. January 11 the group will have a twelve dinner in the home of Mrs. Charles Layton.

YULETIDE PARTY AT BRUCE HOME

A lovely Yuletide party in the home of Mrs. J. R. Bruce, on East Morton street, interested Section E members of the Y. L. B. of the Third U. P. church, and their friends, Friday evening.

The home was attractive with decorations of a Christmas nature, a prettily decorated Christmas tree being lighted with vari-colored electric bulbs, centering attention.

There was a short business session and the usual devotional period, the latter being led by Mrs. A. B. Coulter. The social period was pleasant and informal, the serving of dainty refreshments, in red and green tones, featuring. Mrs. J. Albert Wilson assisted.

On January 4, the next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Fox, on Superior street.

H. G. L. GIRLS CLUB CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mrs. Margaret Richards, of Maryland avenue, was a pleasing hostess to members of the H. G. L. Girls Club Friday evening in her home, and as special guests, she had Miss Jean McClain and Mrs. Telitha Richards.

Miss Edna Strobel, Mrs. Telitha Richards and Miss Bessie Sonntag were winners of the prizes in the card contests.

At the appointed time, little Miss Olive Jane Jones distributed the gifts found under the brilliantly lighted Christmas tree to the club members and guests, marking their annual exchange. Following, the hostess served a delectable repast, assisted by Mrs. Laura Evans. The seasons tones prevailed in all appointments.

Plans for their next meeting were completed, which is scheduled for two weeks at the home of Mrs. Lola Kerr on Rose avenue.

Honored At Shower

Miss Geraldine Regna, daughter of the late Mary and Joseph Regna, Lutton street, was honored last evening when her sister, Mrs. Alex Veri, entertained informally at a miscellaneous shower, guests numbering forty in her home at 407 Lutton street. Miss Regna will be married on December 26.

LUNCHEON EVENT AT MRS. MARY UBER'S

One of the most delightful of the many Yuletide parties was held on Friday in the Laurel Boulevard home of Mrs. Mary Uber with Mrs. R. J. Offutt of Court street, being jointly associated in entertaining. A. club associates at one o'clock luncheon.

A beautiful floral centerpiece was of chrysanthemums and at each place, a miniature Santa Claus added a bright note of color. An elegant menu of turkey and all the trimmings was served by Mrs. Uber's daughter, Mrs. Bertha U. Smith and Mrs. John B. Offutt, a daughter-in-law of the other hostess.

Covers were laid for Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. Margaret H. Coulter, Mrs. W. J. Chain, Mrs. R. T. Galbraith, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. Jessie Edgar, Mrs. Ada Krohn, and the hostesses, Mrs. S. C. Moore, the only other member of the group all of whom are old friends, who get together every once in a while, was unable to be present.

The afternoon was spent informally, with games and conversation.

ELABORATE PARTY FOR HAPPY HOUR

Complete in every detail, and one of the loveliest parties of the season, was the event Friday evening in the home of Mrs. W. Scott McCaslin on East Washington street, when she entertained as her guests members of the Happy Hour club, and the following special guests, Mrs. J. H. Preston, Mrs. Elder Bryan, Mrs. Jeanne Preston, Mrs. Blanche Keane, Miss Melda Davenport, Miss Agnes Keane and Miss Alice Ebeling.

The house was a bower of beauty, ornaments being cleverly used in every nook and corner, with tones of silver and red predominating.

Activities started off with a surprise handkerchief shower in honor of Myrtle Preston, who will leave about January 15 for California. This was cleverly carried out, but instructing Miss Preston to follow a string that led her throughout the rooms, and at intervals she found attractively wrapped packages, which contained many beautiful handkerchiefs.

After a period of informal pastimes, the hostess served a delicious lunch in the dining room, the table being prettily arranged. Assisting Mrs. McCaslin was Misses Ebeling and Agnes Keane.

LOCAL CLUB MOTORS TO ELLWOOD FRIDAY

Motoring to Ellwood City, Friday evening, members of the Iota Delta club enjoyed a game of cards in the home of Mrs. Charles Marion. Mrs. Frank Bogdon and Mrs. Hollis Barber won the pretty favors and Mrs. William Miles was an aide to the hostess in serving a dainty Christmas lunch.

Next Wednesday evening, the girls have planned for a holiday dinner in the home of Mrs. Roy Porter, at Ellwood, after which they will form a theatre party.

The regular assembly, in two weeks, will be with Mrs. Sargent W. Smith, of Edgewood avenue.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR REBEKAH CHAPTER

Covers were arranged for 55 Friday evening at four long tables arranged in a hollow square in the dining room of the First United Presbyterian church when the Rebekah chapter had its annual birthday dinner. To add the holiday spirit, there was a glittering Yuletide tree, while each table was centered with a birthday cake, the appointments being in red and green.

Miss Rebekah Browne asked the invocation and there was group singing. Mrs. Lyle Hughes was in charge of the program and also played a group of piano numbers and read some Christmas poems.

Mrs. Gula Bauder Keagy sang a group of songs, with Anne Thomas as her accompanist; Fred Sperano played a violin number and then played the violin obligato as Mrs. Keagy sang "The Angel's Serenade". Jane Newell gave a reading, "Aunt Maria's Christmas Shopping". Each member was accompanied by a guest.

Mrs. Lillian Fehl, who was in charge of the dinner arrangements, had as her aides Mrs. Pearl Morrow, Mrs. Alice Newell, Mrs. Elsie Dickey and Mrs. Nellie McNickle.

CRUELTY CHARGED IN DIVORCE CASE

Helen Stickle of 924 Beckford street, has filed an application at the court house for a divorce from her husband, Jacob C. Stickle, who makes his home with Albert Marks, on Clifton Flats. Cruel and barbarous treatment is charged. The couple were married at Beaver in August, 1914.

In its origin, the terrible custom of human sacrifice that flourished for so long among the Ashantis and other West African tribes, is said to have been nothing more or less than a blind desire on the part of the native to "honor his father," or to pay due veneration to superiors.

THANKS, UNCLE SAM

NEW CASTLE is seeing one of its long time wants fulfilled today, an adequate post office is being dedicated to the service of the people, and the citizens all can say "Thanks, Uncle Sam."

For years the building on North Mercer street has been inadequate. Employees have had to work in cramped quarters that were conducive neither to good health nor efficient service. Outwardly the building is an imposing structure yet, inside it was too small to serve the demands of the city.

All that is changed with the dedication of the handsome new structure on the Public Square. It is large enough, it is modern, and it adds considerably to the appearance of the center of the city. Not only will it accommodate the postal forces but it will be in reality a Federal Building where all Federal functions will be centralized.

No matter what the speakers say today in praise of the new building, they are merely re-echoing a sentiment that is in the heart of every citizen in New Castle.

SHOULD BE EXCELLENT R. W. D. PROJECT

With the occupancy of the new Federal Building by the post office and other governmental offices, there will soon be a handsome stone building at the corner of Mercer and North streets vacant. The old post office building is a sound structure and a handsome one and the only reason for a new building was the lack of space in the old one.

It has been suggested, and very wisely so, that the old post office building would make an admirable city hall or a free public library.

With some changes it could be adapted for either purpose and right now seems to be the ideal time to make such a change if it is going to be done. Remodeling the building would make squarely under the list of projects acceptable by the R.W.D. The work would require stone masons, brick masons, carpenters, painters, electricians, plumbers and possibly steel workers. All of this labor would be free to the city and the only thing necessary would be to furnish the materials.

No more ideal spot for a city hall or free public library can be imagined than the Mercer street post office building. In the remodeling it might be necessary to add some stories to it, but this was thought of when the building was built. One, two, or three stories could be added to the building on the foundation it has.

City council would do well to go into the matter in an intensive way at once. There never will be a time when it will get labor as cheap, and the result of the changes would be a modern city hall, or library, fitted for the needs of the city for a long time to come.

The suggestion that the city take the building over is a splendid one. However, suggestion alone will accomplish little. It will take work and the time for that work seems to be here.

DAWES AS A PROPHET OF RECOVERY

Charles G. Dawes, former vice president and later head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation established during the Hoover administration, is satisfied that prosperity is returning. By June or July of next year he expects to see it in full swing. It will be attained when the durable goods industries come into their own once more. Always the last to get on their feet after depression strikes them, they travel fast when they get going.

It took steel, for instance, five and a half years to recover from the depressions of 1873 and 1893. A similar period since the blow-up of 1929 will be covered by the middle of 1935. And steel is already responding, although gradually. The Iron Age, in its weekly review of yesterday, reports a progressive expansion of steel production for the eighth consecutive week. It has now reached 33 per cent of capacity, a gain of 3 1/2 per cent in seven days.

The Dawes prediction is based upon the fact that needed orders have been held back; that there is a five-year accumulation of them which can not be postponed much longer, and that they will break into massed demand. "This mass demand will be expressed first in a large increase of production and afterward by an upward scale of prices," but "much less than in the former two depressions"—that is his argument.

But in making it he ignores certain factors that have a direct bearing on full recovery, mainly those of lingering uncertainty and of restrained confidence. Where will the president lead us? What will congress do? Those are questions that are not answered. The problem of unemployment can not be solved by made work. Permanent employment by durable goods industries is conceded to be the way out. To this end the administration and congress should bend their efforts.

If she carries him like a vase he's her first baby; if she carries him like a raincoat he's probably her fourth.

You needn't worry about civilization while virtue can depend on a collection plate and wickedness has to charge a regular fee.

As news, we are inclined to class that story about a movie actor's getting on an old-fashioned drunk with the dog-biting-a-man item.

And why does the girl who can have any man she wants usually end up by grabbing one who looks like something in a paper sack that was ordered by telephone?

PLAYING THE OTHER FELLOW'S GAME

I SHOULD have known better. Even a youngster of thirteen should have been wiser, should have known that you can't play the other fellow's game... But I did want that lovely air gun behind the counter. The longer I looked at it the keener was my desire, and at last it seemed that life wouldn't be worth living if I did not have it. I could picture myself raising it to my shoulder, squinting along the shiny red barrel of it and hitting a tomato can with it every time. I HAD TO HAVE IT!

And it looked so easy, too. All I had to do was drop three discs over a circle so that they covered it completely, and I could have the gun. The man behind the counter said it was easy, too. He could do it carelessly, almost without looking, and why couldn't I? It was a street fair in my home town. There was a wild man and a merry-go-round and a Ferris wheel and a fortune teller and a dwarf and a place where you throw rings over sticks and won prizes and there was a magic wheel and lots of other fascinating booths... But I did not want to see the wild man. I did not want to ride on the Ferris wheel. I did not want any of the other gim-cracks. I wanted that air gun!

The man in the booth held the three discs easily in his hands, over the circle on the olecloth counter. He dropped one lightly and picked it up. Then he dropped it again, and then the second one, and finally the third—and the circle was covered! He looked at me and grinned. "Take a chance, kid!" I hesitated and then he talked to me out of the corner of his mouth, nastily-like. "Say, kid, if you ain't playing, you better skidoo. You can't hang around here all day." So I took a chance. If I paid him a dime I could win a pocket knife or a coin purse or a watch. If I paid him a quarter I could win a beautiful set of dishes with rosebuds on them, or a tool chest, or that gun.

And I had a dollar. So I paid him a quarter, and then I paid him another quarter and then another and then I paid him my last cent. I never did get that circle covered with those three metal discs. It was a lot harder than it looked and after he got my dollar and I didn't get any air gun he let me hang around for a while and then he told me to beat it.

So I beat it, and I think I went around the corner and cried and then I wiped my eyes and decided that the only way I'd ever have an air gun like that was to save up my money and buy it. Because I knew I'd never get it trying to play the other fellow's game.

UNREASONABLE CONVICTIONS INDICATE WEAKNESS

Convictions based on ignorance are the hardest to efface.

Some of those who take pride in the fact that they have strong convictions and are not afraid to support them are notably ignorant.

Irrespective of proof to the contrary such persons stick to their statements and keep the same opinion.

They are always ready with positive assertions.

If they can find no convincing arguments supporting their positions, they are quite apt to assert that those opposing them are ignorant.

Such a statement is another evidence of the instability of their own deductions.

To differ in opinion is not an evidence of poor judgment.

But when an opinionated person will not listen to an argument made to refute his statements, it is evidence that he is not open to conviction.

You desire to be known as a man of strong convictions.

You will not change your ideas, no matter what the argument.

To change would indicate, to your mind, a decided weakness.

Such a matter of fact, your stubborn adherence to what you think is right, in the face of facts to the contrary, indicates weakness rather than strength.

"DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS"

I like packages and parcels, tied with ribbons and with strings. I'm as curious as a youngster when it comes to opening things. I just can't resist a bundle, however it is tied.

I've an itching and a twitching to discover what's inside.

Place a package on the table and my eyes begin to glow;

What is hidden 'neath the wrapper I have simply got to know.

I start wondering and guessing, just as curious as can be,

And I'll never rest a minute till I've opened it to see.

"Do not open until Christmas!" thus the printed labels state, And I hate to disobey them, but I simply cannot wait!

Though the mother very calmly puts such packages away,

I'm not one to sit contented and not peck till Christmas Day.

There's a most exquisite pleasure in discovering ties and socks,

And gay initialed handkerchiefs of linen in a box.

Of the contents of a package I'm as curious as can be,

"Do not open until Christmas!" doesn't mean a thing to me.

An ounce of help is worth a pound of scold!

Power Interests And President Near Argument

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Peace between the power interests and President Roosevelt with the possibility of future utility rate reductions throughout the country today appeared in the offing.

President Roosevelt, in his bi-weekly press conference, indicated the Public Utility interests had indicated their willingness to co-operate with the government in working out a system of consumer rates based on fair returns to the companies but at the same time meeting with the president's desire to see exorbitant rates curtailed.

The president also made it known he wished to see the financial structure of utility companies reorganized sufficiently to "squeeze out" the water from their capital structures.

If a truce between the president and the utility companies actually is worked out, the electrical utility corporations were seen as likely to abandon their attacks in the courts upon the constitutionality of the TVA.

At the same time, there were indications the president, in return, might not extend federal competition with the utility interests beyond the projects now under way, commonly referred to as "yardstick" experiments in the Tennessee Valley and elsewhere.

Henry Ford Went Home.
Russia Prepared.
Otto Kahn's Advice.
A Streptococci War.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HENRY FORD went back from New York to Detroit last night, cheerful and concentrated as usual, and will have news for the buying public presently. He is one year older than this writer, and looks young enough to be his son, with his thick hair, thin face, and active body.

He was here for business and pleasure, mixed. On Wednesday he had luncheon in a corner at the Ambassador hotel with Gerard Swope, head of the General Electric Company, to talk about buying some big machinery, new, better kinds of steel, etc.

He says:

"Swope is the best salesman I ever saw."

MR. FORD spent considerable time in the New York store of Ginsberg and Levy, who deal in antiques. Mr. Ford, who has great confidence in those partners, was interested to see that both the partners had their daughters working with them in the store.

"Nice, intelligent girls," Mr. Ford said, "and their fathers are honest."

"Read what Cameron said about the six-hour day," Mr. Ford advised.

When he walked out to the elevator of the Ritz Carlton hotel, having just left Mrs. Ford at the door of his apartment, he said something more important to human happiness than all his new models, all his factories, all his public service.

"I met her fifty years ago this New Year's Eve. If it hadn't been for her, I never should have done anything."

Then he walked back to their apartment.

IN GENEVA, Mr. Streit discovered, and sent to the New York Times, the interesting news that Russia's strength makes any Japanese attack on Russia entirely improbable.

Mr. Streit says:

"Tokio won't act without positive western help."

The same statement has been made here at intervals for several weeks past, ever since a distinguished Russian official said to this person:

"There is no danger of war between Russia and Japan. Japan waited three years too long and knows it."

Russia did NOT wait. She placed bombing and pursuit planes at Vladivostok, within convenient reach of Tokyo and all Japanese industrial centers. And Russia also located a powerful fleet of large modern submarines at Vladivostok, four hundred and fifty miles from Japan's coast, and is strengthening that fleet constantly.

For Japan to start war on Russia would mean to invite nine hundred planes with bombs, poison gas and other things, and a large fleet of submarines from Vladivostok, all bound for Japan.

EVEN WITH the suggested "positive western help" to which Mr. Streit refers, it does not seem probable that Japan would invite such a Russian visitation.

The official said:

"Russia knows the location of every industrial center in Japan and has plans made to wipe out those industrial centers within a few hours of any declaration of war."

Japan intelligent as well as brave, would direct attention toward things easier than Russia and what could be more inviting than this country? Our equipment does not include an adequate air fleet or submarine fleet. With our eight or nine un-defended billions in gold and our unlimited paper billions, we are in a position like that of rich old Croesus, when Solon said to him:

"If anybody should come having better iron than you, he will be master of all this gold."

If Japan should come with better flying machines than we have, that would be embarrassing for us, although in the end it would be fatal for Japan.

Our New Deal, among other things, ought to include adequate preparation for United States defense.

WASHINGTON discovers that ammunition manufacturers in the big war made as much as forty-seven million dollars in a year. One firm made a profit of three hundred and sixty-two per cent in the happy profit days of long ago.

The late Otto H. Kahn, able citizen, said to this writer while the stock exchange was closed, in war time:

"Put every dollar in General Motors."

The stock sold then at about $50 a share. With stock distributions, etc., purchasing would have meant a profit of $5,000 a share.

This conservative person bought no General Motors. Mr. Kahn said later:

"Brisbane, you wouldn't buy any General Motors, when I advised it. Take my advice now and buy yourself some Winchester Arms stock."

That stock was selling for $1,500 a share, and to a struggling newspaper man that seemed a high price. None was bought.

The following week it went to $3,500 a share. A modest purchase of 1,000 shares would have produced a profit of two million dollars, in less than seven days, which is fairly "quick action."

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, when Secretary of the Navy, had ideas about keeping down war profits. He sent for a maker of torpedoes shot from submarines tubes against the sides of battleships. The manufacturer mentioned a price three times as high as would have yielded a fine profit. Mr. Daniels mentioned a reasonable price. The manufacturer said:

"Sorry, we cannot consider it."

Mr. Daniels replied:

"Well, think about it until next Wednesday, then come and see me again. If you still think it can't be done, the United States government will take over your plant on Thursday and show you how to do it."

The factory supplied torpedoes at the price that Mr. Daniels suggested.

THAT IS how the conversation is remembered after twenty years. High-handed? Yes, but war also is high-handed.

YOU ARE "fearfully and wonderfully made," never doubt it.

Little Stanley Walker is fighting for life against a horrible army of streptococci germs that destroy the life-giving red corpuscles in the blood stream.

The white corpuscles, called "leucocytes," fight foreign enemies in the blood until their strength is exhausted. The war going on in the boy's veins and arteries involved an army of fighters greater in number by hundreds of millions than those engaged in the "big war."

The streptococci germs were about to win, when new blood from a man whose blood stream had once conquered the streptococci infection, blood of the same type B as that of little Stanley Walker, was transfused into the boy's weakened blood stream.

The white corpuscles in his blood were trained fighters. They had fought streptococci before and knew how to do it.

WHEN THIS was written, with new "blood soldiers" fighting on his side, little Stanley's troops coming to help Wellington against Napoleon, the doctors thought the boy might recover.

Russian peasant children dress as animals and dance on Christmas day

7 shopping days to Christmas

RUSSIA

In Russia under the Czars one had to go to the provinces to see a genuine Russian Christmas party of the old style. In some districts peasant boys dressed themselves as animals and knocked at the doors of the houses. It was etiquette to express great fear at their terrible appearance. Then they were invited in, the host expressing his relief at the gentlemanly manner of these bloodthirsty beasts. The boys danced and sang and were given pennies and cakes.

Unravel Budd Kidnaping Mystery After Six Years

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Budd Grace Budd Detective and Albert A. Fisch

Mysterious disappearance of pretty little Grace Budd in 1928 was declared solved by police with the finding of her dismembered body in a desolate woods in East Irvington, Westchester county, New York, to which spot police were directed by Albert A. Fisch, confessed slayer. Trained for years by New York detectives, Fisch, who formerly lived in a ramshackle house near White Plains, told of slaying the girl after inviting her to a "birthday party" in his home. He was charged with homicide and kidnaping. Above, at left, are the girl victim's parents; center, Grace Budd, and right, a detective with the 65-year-old Fisch, right.

If you enjoy a little adventuring in your gardening, try raising delphiniums from seed. Seeds can be sown in flats in January, February and March, in slight heat; the seedlings should then be transplanted into the garden early in May. By sowing seeds in succession, flowers may be obtained during summer and fall right up until the appearance of the first frost.

Parents' Night At Junior High

Large Crowd Gathers At George Washington School On Friday

PRESENT PROGRAM DURING EVENING

Seventh annual parents night at George Washington Junior High school, Friday evening, drew a record crowd of 1500, many of the 900 children enrolled there having several of the family present, for the show, besides the parents.

The program was divided into three parts and from 7:30 until 10:30 there wasn't a dull moment. The first hour was taken up with class room recitations, that the parents could witness the regular routine of the school classes. Each of the 26 teachers was on duty, as well as the three hall supervisors who kept the crowd moving.

The second part was a Gymnasium exhibition, with health education exhibits featuring, under the direction of Daniel A. Carroll, instructor. The program:

I—Figure Marching, directed by Mr. Carroll.

II—Wand drill, directed by Walter McDonald.

III—Dances: (1) Newsboys Clog; (2) Duet Dance; (3) Military Dance directed by Joseph Thompson.

IV—Tumbling: all forms of tumbling and pyramid work, directed by Samuel Baldwin, Stewart Burns, Kenneth Donegan.

V—Tumbler from Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Demonstrating advance tumbling (and they were excellent).

VI—Midget basketball, directed by David Harris.

Demonstration of basketball fundamentals included in the basketball game.

Present Play

For Part III, an operetta "Maid in Japan," was presented in the auditorium under the direction of Miss Betty Glover, dramatics, and Miss Ivy Mayberry, vocal music.

In order of their first appearance the cast was:

Ju-Ja—Jack Higgins

Toshi—Ethel Cowles

Ishi—Eleanor Double

Nishida—Anita Hamilton

Bill Woods—James Cavill

Peggy—Mary McLaughlin

Hanano—Josephine Jenkins

Lototo—Louise Shaffer

Tom Long—George Large

The Coolie—Richard Johns

Hirohito—Robert Casey

Matsuo—Ben Jenkins

Yatsubusa—Donald Lusk

Manyemom—Robert Cole

The show was amusing, having to do with the sale of suspenders made in America, by three young Americans, one of whom falls in love with the Empress's daughter. Their tribulations are many, for besides learning that the Japanese buy only articles "made in Japan" they find, as usual, that the path of true love never runs smooth. The little skit has a happy ending, of course. The cast was well supported by a large chorus of young girls, in Japanese costume, which was colorful.

Music, besides the score, consisted of an overture "In Japan" "Lady Moon" between the acts and an exit march "When Dreams Come True" all of these being directed by John E. Paton.

OAK STREET PUPILS HEAR TALES FRIDAY

Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian of the New Castle free public library, told stories to Oak street school children at the school Friday.

Pupils of the first, second and third grades heard "Troll's Christmas," "Little Wolf" and "Babushka," while those of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades heard "Little Clockmaker," "Three Christmas Kings" and "Babushka."

A curious fact about mechanism is that a gift for it is found in quite primitive races, the Eskimo for instance, while the white races still produce a goodly proportion of individuals incapable of grasping it.

Sacred Hearts, Christians And First M. E. Win

Sacred Hearts Upset Strong St. Michaels Team At "Y" Friday 22-14

Sacred Hearts defeated the St. Michaels team 22 to 14 in the feature game at the "Y" floor last night in the New Castle church league and thereby removed the St. Michaels from the undefeated column. The game was nip and tuck all the way, with the Sacred Hearts coming through in the final minutes to clinch their victory.

Vigilante and Merando were the scoring stars in the lineup of the Sacred Hearts, with Motoko and Balla the stars for the Babosky coached machine.

The First Christians handed the Tifereth Israel team a lacing 33 to 15 with Paul Morrison and Art Alexander the scoring stars with 28 of the points between them. Solomon also played a fine game.

The closest game of the program was the first one on the bill with the First M. E. team posing out the Epworth M. E. team 17 to 16 in the final minute of play. Grossman and Spencer were the scoring stars in the First M. E. lineup with Shaffer and Jones the best for the losers.

Meeting Held By

Local W. C. T. U.

Foremen Will Hear

Two Speakers Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—An interesting meeting was held by the local W. C. T. U. last night at the home of Mrs. Robert Grandey on Wayne avenue with 20 present.

Mrs. Joseph Young was in charge of the devotion and President Mrs. George Burrows of the business meeting. Plans were made to fix baskets for the needy here at Christmas. Mrs. Lydia Douds is in charge of this. Donations are to be left at Turner's Electric Shop before December 22.

The program committee composed of Mrs. R. A. Snedden and Mrs. Rupp has arranged for some fine entertainment. Charles Turner sang with his own guitar accompaniment. There was a reading by Mrs. Mary Singlaub; an accordion selection by Robert Bracken; a reading by Mrs. Snedden.

A luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Mary Singlaub. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Snedden on Wayne avenue.

MISS MARY BELL

HOSTESS TO CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Miss Mary Bell proved to be a charming hostess last evening when she opened her home at North Sewickley to members of the Sunshine and Young Men's classes of the Presbyterian church who gathered for a regular meeting and Christmas party.

Thirty-five members and the following special guests, Marian Gehring, Isabel Hardie, Martin Houk, Arthur Cunningham and Boyd Karch, participated.

The hours were passed in a hilarious manner with games and music as the popular diversions after which a grab bag filled with Christmas gifts was featured.

The guests were then seated and served a delicious oyster supper with members of the Young Men's class as hosts. The next meeting of the class will take place on Friday evening, January 11.

ORANGE LADIES

HAVE CARD PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—A good turnout marked the meeting of the local Orange Ladies in the First National Bank building last night.

Arrangements were made for their annual Christmas party to be held in two weeks. A three dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by lodge meeting and first degree. This will be followed by an exchange of gifts and social time. It was announced that the lodge will go to Beaver Falls Monday to put on the first degree.

A 500 and bingo party was held after the business meeting. Prizes at the close went to Mrs. Kenneth Vogt, Mrs. G. E. Pence, H. Steinbeck, Joe Cragel, Mrs. Mamie Skevis, and Mrs. Irene Main.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE

PLAY IN CHURCH

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—The Intermediate and Young People presented a clever play entitled "Topsy Turvy Christmas" in the basement of the First Presbyterian church Friday evening.

The play was given in a splendid manner and was well received. It was coached by Mrs. Ray Wilson. Having leading roles in it were Eleanor Kimes, Margaret Jean Harris, Alieis Conner, Po Ann Zeigler, Catherine Nichols and Myron Gelbach, Jr.

Mrs. J. T. Young of Glenn avenue spent Friday shopping at New Castle.

Ellwood Trounces Alumni Passers

Benedict Coached Team Takes 36-25 Victory In Second Game Of Season Here

ROBUCK AND COLE LEAD FAST ATTACK

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—A remarkably improved Ellwood City high basketball team took the floor against a fast Alumni combination in the second game of the season last night at Lincoln gym, and gave the graduates a neat lesson as they played them off their feet to obtain a 36-25 victory.

The Benedict coached quintet looked like a championship team last night as they passed, worked and shot the ball.

It was only in the final period when Coach Benedict gave orders to pass the ball around and refrain from shooting as much as possible, was the Alumni quip able to make it a better game. The count was 12-0 for the schoolboys at the end of the first quarter, 22-1 at half-time, 28-9 in the third quarter and 36-25 final.

Captain Alex Robuck played a brilliant game and was high scorer of the game with four baskets and four fouls for a total of 12 points. His running mate Cole, Kraynak and Stoughton accredited themselves nobly by scoring 8, 6 and 5 points respectively. Smith, Cavalier and Lammaro were outstanding for the Alumni.

The reserve teams of the high school played the preliminary game which ended in a 15-15 deadlock. Due to the shortage of time no extra period was played.

MRS. FERD ZEIGLER

PLEASING HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Members of the A. M. L. Club held a splendid Christmas party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Ferd Zeigler on Pittsburgh Circle. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Bridge at two tables was in play during the evening at the close of which Mrs. S. D. Johnston received the high score award. As exchange of gifts followed.

A delectable menu was served at a later hour by the hostess at the dining table, which was centered with a miniature Christmas tree.

The next meeting will be on New Year's Night at the home of Mrs. J. J. Ferguson on Fourth street. A turkey dinner will be served and husbands will be special guests.

INTER-CITY BRIDGE

CLUB MEETS HERE

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Mrs. H. D. Patterson dispensed charming hospitality to the members of the Inter-City Bridge club Friday afternoon at her home on Second street. Mrs. J. Jay Dunn, Sr., was a special guest on the occasion.

Three tables of bridge amidst holiday colors and appointments, occupied the attention of those present for the greater part of the evening. The high score awards at the close of the games went to Mrs. Howard McCray of Beaver Falls and Mrs. B. F. Goodrich of this city.

The next meeting of the club will take place on the second Friday of January.

RECOVER STOLEN

CAR OF LOCAL MAN

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Word was received here today that car owned by Bernie Brown, of Ellwood R. D. 1, which was stolen in Butler last Sunday, was found in Campbell, O., and is being held there by police. It is reported to be in good shape.

Phalanx Christmas Dance Fine Success

Ellwood City Country Club Is Scene Of Wonderful Event Friday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Success in every sense of the word crowned the Yuletide dance of the local Phalanx Fraternity Friday evening at the Ellwood City Country Club.

It was a gorgeous event. The place was beautifully decorated with a red and green color scheme with becoming appointments. During the evening the gathering enjoyed a scramble for balloons which were released from the ceiling.

A crowd of 100 couples enjoyed dancing to popular tunes during the evening. An interesting feature was a few specialty numbers by various members of the orchestra.

The affair was a distinct credit to the organization and managing abilities of the Phalanx Fraternity of this city.

John Slobojan Dies At Hospital

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—John Slobojan, 25, passed away suddenly after being brought to the Ellwood City hospital, yesterday afternoon.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Slobojan, and one son, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Slobojan, all at home, one brother, Mike, in California. He was stricken suddenly and his passing was quite a shock.

The deceased was a graduate of the local high school and was one of its outstanding athletes.

Funeral services will be held on Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the Greek Orthodox church of Ellport. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

CHEWTON

CHURCH RECEPTION

A reception for new members was held Wednesday evening at the Church of Christ. At the regular Prayer Circle hour a representative group of the church membership gathered in the auditorium for a brief service at which nine new members were received into the fellowship of the local church.

The minister, assisted by elders J. C. Yoho and Paul Coulter, conducted the service. He spoke briefly on the subject of "Church Membership," after which he delivered the charge to the new members and, with the congregation, extended the greetings of the local church to them. All then retired to the basement where a committee under the direction of Mrs. Eliza Conner and Mrs. Frank Baker served refreshments.

PREPARE CHRISTMAS PLAY

A cast of twelve young people under the direction of the minister, is busy preparing the Christmas play, "The Rainbow Christmas," by Mary Bonham, to be presented during the Christmas season at the Church of Christ. The plot centers around Mr. Weal (George Zeigler) whose physical infirmities have made him pessimistic and disagreeable. Mrs. Weal (Mary Aiken) and Dr. Keener (Tommy Houk) with the family servant, Ham Bubble (Earl Kelly), plan a surprise Christmas party as a psychological cure for Mr. Weal.

Dinah (Mabel Kelly) prepares the Rainbow Christmas dinner. Dorothy Conner, Hazel Kelly, Alice Campbell, Mae Davis, Glenn Hennon, Murel Houk, Gail Allen portray the guests at the Christmas party. The party ends by making every one's Christmas a Rainbow Christmas, including Mr. Weal. The young people's choir will sing Christmas carols between the acts.

CHEWTON NOTES

Mrs. Nellie Summers was a shopper in New Castle Tuesday.

Miss Dorothy Patch of New Castle was a visitor here Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guy of West Pittsburg spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Guy.

The lure of the deer hunt still calls many hunters to the woods. P. J. Tillia, Frank Baker, Elmer Badger and Paul and Lawrence Tillia left Thursday morning for Medix Run to spend the week end in hunting for deer.

Koppel Firemen Select Officers

Plans Also Made For Community Christmas Tree In Borough

(Special to The News)

KOPPEL, Dec. 15.—Meeting in regular monthly session last evening in the firemen's chambers of the municipal building, Koppel volunteer fire department elected officers for the ensuing year, made preliminary arrangements for a community Christmas tree and treat for kiddies, and transacted routine business.

A. L. Rossi was named president for the coming year and James J. Colalizzi vice president. Other officers include: Secretary, John Colalizzi; treasurer, Michael A. Pettit; chief, Anthony Perrigno; assistant chief, Charles Roberts; captain, William Pettit; first lieutenant, Samuel Carothers, and second lieutenant, Frank Colalizzi. Samuel Carothers was elected president of the relief association and Charles L. Myers was named vice president.

The Koppel Athletic club, the Italian lodge, Koppel fire department and J. Harvey Marshall post, American Legion, will join in erecting a community Christmas tree and in giving a yule treat to the kiddies. Two representatives from each of the above organizations are to meet next week to complete the final arrangements. The tree will probably be erected on the lawn adjoining the municipal building and the treat given on Saturday, Dec. 22.

LADIES MEETING

On Tuesday evening in the social rooms of the Koppel M. E. church the Ladies Bible class held an interesting Christmas party with about 50 present. Mrs. Louis Wallis and daughter Agnes were special guests on the occasion.

Mrs. Charles Sherman was in charge of the business meeting and devotionals. It was decided to hold a watch night party on New Year's eve in the church.

Mrs. Ray Conlia and Mrs. Russell Berkebile had been in charge of entertainment and decorations.

The girls' choir sang several special yule selections.

KOPPEL NOTES

Mrs. Charles Sherman of Second avenue was hostess to members of the Ladies Sewing club Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. George Roberts and Mrs. William Roberts, First avenue, were visitors with friends in Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

Walter Bushman, Third avenue, visited for a few days with relatives and friends in Butler.

Chief of Police Frank Ferrigno has been in Clearfield county for several days where he has been hunting deer and other big game.

Mrs. J. B. Kerr and daughter of Bessemer visited at the home of the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kerr, Third avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Blair of Fifth avenue were host and hostess to members of the October birthday club and their husbands on Thursday evening at a prettily appointed dinner at their home.

Mrs. William Hart, Arthur street, has as her guests for several days Mrs. J. P. Faith, Mr. and Mrs. George Basset of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Basset is a sister of the nationally famous movie star, Billie Burke.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crangi and family, Fifth avenue, have returned home after attending the funeral of Mr. Crangi's brother, Ben Crangi of Warren, O. Mr. Crangi was buried on Wednesday from the home of relatives in West Pittsburg.

HOKUM CLUB HAS MEETING FRIDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Hokum Club met at the home of Miss Leanna Johnston on the New Brighton road last night for its regular meeting.

Two tables of 500 occupied the attention of those present for the greater part of the evening. Mrs. Russell Fennick and Mrs. Jack Sherlin received the prizes at the close of the games.

Miss Phyllis Wiley assisted the hostess in serving an appetizing luncheon later in the evening. Miss Naomi Lutz will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on Line avenue.

A. A. G. MEMBERS GATHER FRIDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15.—Miss Irene Cerelli was hostess to the A. A. G. Club last night at her home on Park avenue. Miss Marie Bartle was a special guest.

After a short business meeting a social time was enjoyed. An exchange of gifts was held followed by cards. Prizes for 500 went to Miss Leona Leymarie, for bridge to Miss Louise Leymarie and Miss Patty Strouse.

A luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess with the assistance of Miss Ruth Strouse. The club will meet in two weeks.

Paper Nominates May Queen Candidates

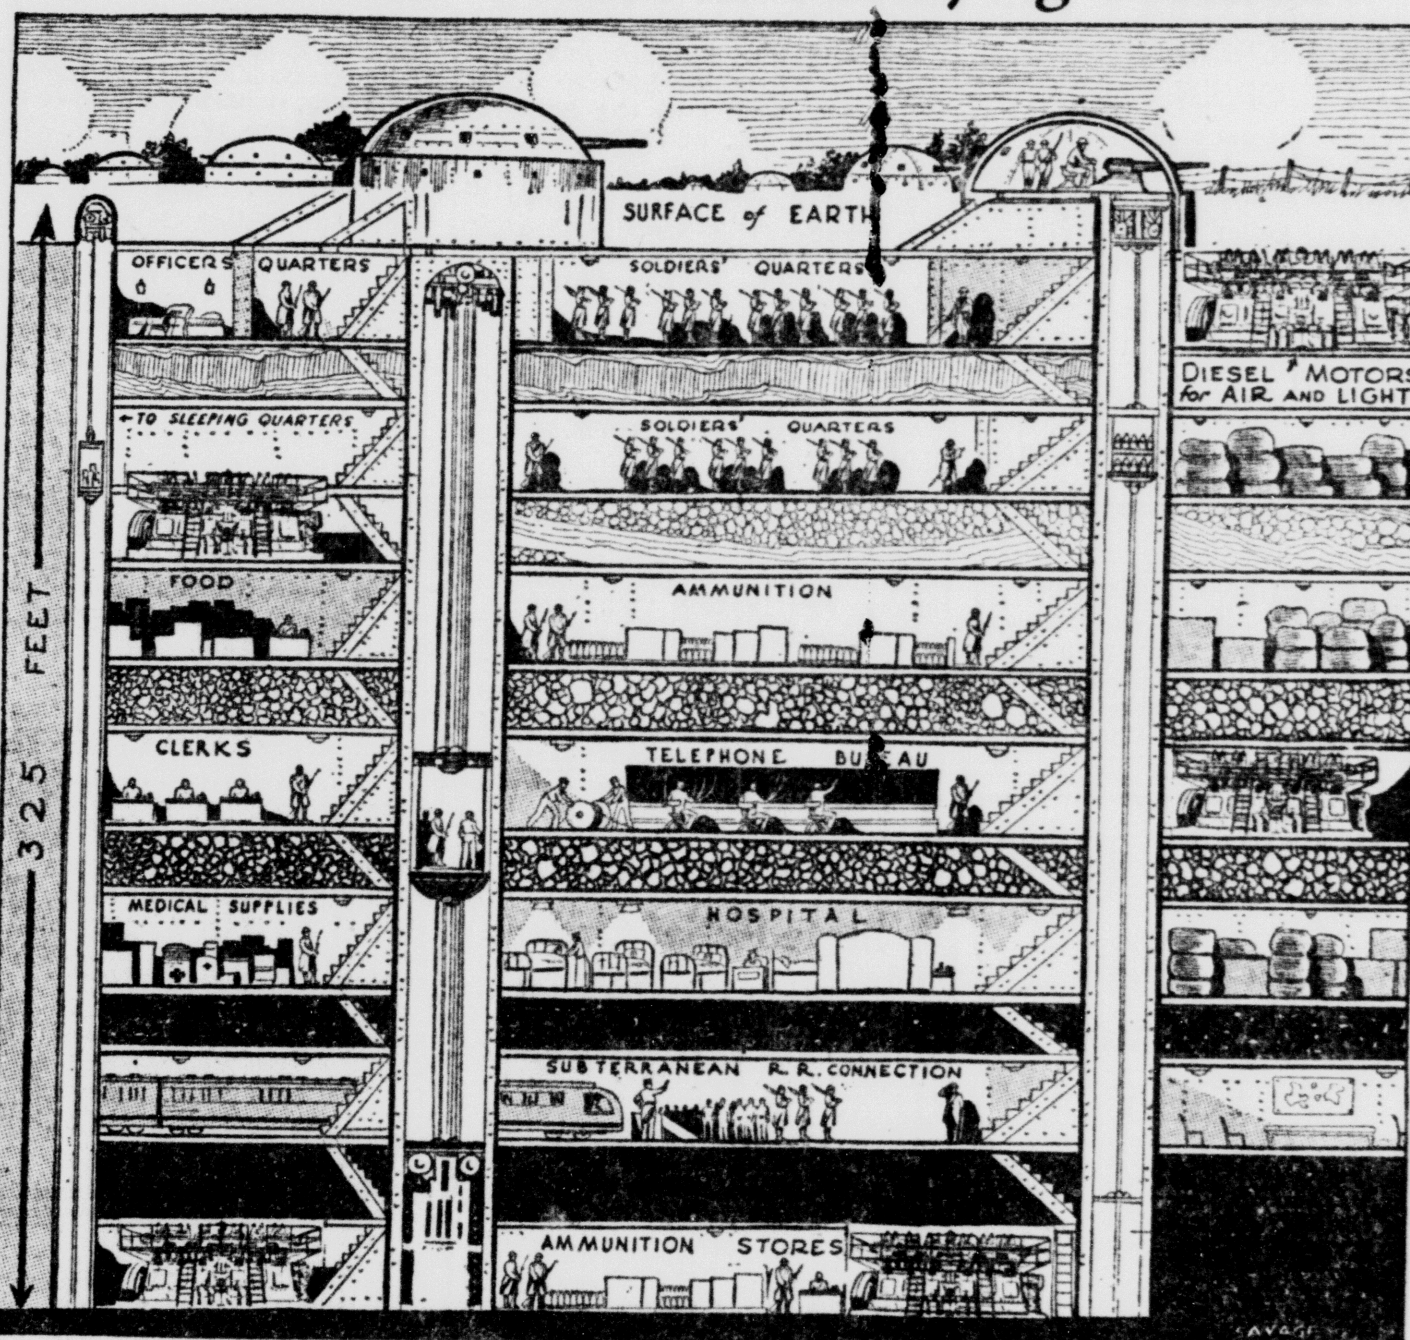

The Holcad, weekly newspaper at Westminster College, New Wilmington, scooped the Student Council and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet in nominating junior class coeds for election as May queen this week. While the Council and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet were debating which organization would nominate candidates and supervise the election, the editorial staff of the student paper announced its nine nominees.

Nominees for the honor as put forward by the student newspaper include: Isabel Reed, Poland, O.; Anne Thomas, Glenshaw; Virginia Rumbaugh, Saxenburg; Helen Dreier, Rochester, N. Y.; Jane Holland, Bellevue; McCles Murray, Ninevah; Lois Greer, Valencia; Dorothy Covert, Wilkinsburg, and Alta Elizabeth Russell, Youngstown, O.

In all probability the official list of candidates as announced by either the Y. W. C. A. cabinet or the Student Council will include the same junior women as selected by the student paper. The election, probably to take place early in January, will be by the entire student body.

Is This How France Is Fortifying Frontier?

Artist James Savage visualizes details released by French concerning fortifications being completed along its frontier from the Belgian coast to Switzerland. France is anxious for Germans to believe that the defense scheme is being carried out on a scale unparalleled in world history. Whether the underground buildings are as extensive and as complete as details indicate, only military authorities know.

Crime Control Plans Will Be Carried Out

Attorney General Cummings
Elated At Success Of Recent Crime Conference

Sweeping Changes Will Take Place; Will Not Encroach On Rights Of States

By THOMAS F. CULLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Elated over the results of the national crime conference, Attorney General Cummings was ready to assume the responsibilities placed on him by its recommendations.

Sweeping changes in the crime control system were recommended by the 600 delegates who voted the conference be a permanent organization subject to the attorney-general's call.

Outstanding among the suggestions were establishment of a national institute of criminology, under federal control, to train police in scientific crime detection and causes of crime; and that states create organizations similar to the department of justice for law enforcement in their jurisdictions.

Cummings Elated.
"The results of the conference," said Cummings, "have exceeded my highest expectations."

Interpreting the action of the gathering as placing an enormous responsibility on the department of justice in supplying the moving force for continued activity in law enforcement, Cummings asserted: "It is a responsibility which the delegates desire the department of justice to assume, and in behalf of that department, I accept that responsibility."

Making clear it did not want to encroach upon the rights of states, the conference favored a more complete form of coordination of police effort. It cited the recently enacted federal law, allowing states to make anti-crime compacts as worthy of consideration to this end.

Adopt Resolutions.
The conference adopted resolutions calling for:

Further development of provisions for the educational, vocational and recreational guidance of youth; "administration of all phases of public safety by legally constituted law enforcement agencies"—thus taking a stand against lynchings; under glorification of criminal, and approved the following court reforms:

That prisoners be tried either by judge or jury; alternate jurors replace jurors ill or disqualified, that a majority of a jury's decision be accepted, except in some major cases, in place of the present unanimous vote; that defendants give advance notice of insanity pleas, and that judges and prosecutors be allowed to comment on the fact when a defendant declines to testify.

Paroles Favored.
Parole was favored in proper cases and under certain detailed circumstances, "when intelligently and courageously applied."

The conference condemned unsafe and unsanitary jails; possession of firearms by irresponsible persons; activities of criminals by business men, officials and politicians; abuse of mail, and "similar generally recognized evils in criminal law administration."

WOLVES MEET ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Wolves club will hold their regular dinner meeting on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in The Castleton.

Chairman Anthony Marino, who is in charge of the annual Wolves' party New Year's night, stated today that plans are nearly completed for the event.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. December 14: 10 arrests on charges as follows: Suspicion 6; suspicion and drunkenness 1; violation of auto parking ordinance 1 and drunkenness 1.

Williams Mullins, who gave his address as Pittsburgh almost won himself a compass in police court yesterday when he informed Hizoner the Mayor, he had come to this city in order to find a route to Butler so he could "hit" a highway for New York City. "Chief, you had a compass in your office. You had better give it to this man or he will run all over the world hunting for Butler," remarked the mayor after which he told the Pittsburgher to leave town.

Police have not yet received any reports of shoppers who have been picked or pocketbooks stolen. Merchants and their employers are keeping an eye alert for shoplifters, police declare.

'Jobey' Thomas, patrolman, city police showed presence of mind several days ago when he was directing traffic at Norwood and Highland Avenues. The policeman had given the go ahead sign to traffic north and south in Highland avenue. Suddenly a small school child darted from the east side toward the west side of Highland Avenue. An auto was journeying south. The policeman reached out, seized the child's coat and the car went by, and the child was unharmed. Mark this up to police efficiency.

Among those from the city of New Castle who went to Harrisburg yesterday, was Earl Wimer, city controller. In his official capacity he deals with figures and he listened to the proceedings for first hand information.

The detective bureau of the city has a feline mystery confronting it and has a case of their own to solve. Some days ago a cat meowed its way into the city building and finally curled up on a chair in the detective bureau, which is a warm, snug place. Fed regularly and treated good it was not believed that cat would exchange places with any other feline. However, the cat is now missing. Why it left and where it went is a problem the detectives hope to unravel.

WAGE INCREASES
GIVEN EMPLOYEES

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 15.—Three hundred employees of the Altoona & Logan Valley Electric Railway Co. today received a Christmas present.

A wage cut, made in 1932, when the company went into bankruptcy was restored, the five percent increase being effective Dec. 1. Traction officials at the same time promised to restore an additional five percent cut if business conditions warrant such action next year.

Seek Removal Of Language Officers In Toyko, Japan

Ask United States To Remove Language Officers From Diplomatic Service

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Japan has formally requested the United States to remove the 16 American language officers attached to the American embassy at Tokyo from the diplomatic list, Ambassador Joseph C. Grew notified the state department today.

Spy frenzy born of militarism was regarded in authoritative quarters here for the reason for Japan's action.

Removal of the American language officers from the diplomatic list will deprive them of diplomatic immunity and will make it more difficult for them to enter and reside in Japan.

Japan is reported to have requested Great Britain and France likewise to remove their language officers from the diplomatic list.

This move on Japan's part is believed due to recent Japanese charges that a naval language officer attached to the French embassy in Tokyo had engaged in espionage activities. Japan's request has been taken under consideration by the state department here.

Musical Program
For Almira Home

The women of the Almira Home were given a delightful pre-holiday party Friday afternoon in the form of a musicale, with Mrs. T. J. McFate, Park avenue, taking a group of boys and girls to the home to entertain them. She was assisted by Mrs. W. C. McCalmont.

There were piano selections, xylophone and accordion numbers, readings and a flute number by Mrs. McCalmont.

The children taking part were Eleanor and Anita Love, Temoy Jane McFate, Barbara Bergland, Tommy McFate, Tommy Batten, Evelyn Montozzi, Eva Jane and Roy Rumbaugh and Genevieve McCalmont.

After entertaining the women Mrs. McFate and Mrs. McCalmont presented each resident at the home with a little package containing Christmas cookies.

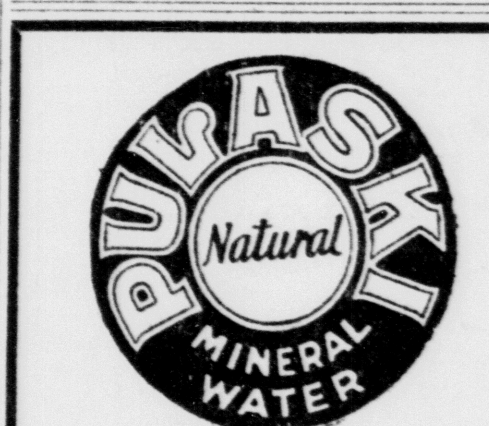

As the group left each woman expressed her delight and invited the musicians to return at an early date.
